

STEADY INCREASE IN ENLISTMENTS

Recruiting for National Guard
Now at High Water
Mark.

NEW STATION OPENED IN GEORGETOWN SECTION

Another May Be Placed on 9th
Street Near F—Cooks Badly Needed.

With new recruiting stations opening and the central station at 1225 Pennsylvania avenue, in charge of Col. Clarence V. Sayer, going full blast today, recruiting men for the National Guard is now at high water mark. A new station was opened at 3145 M street northwest this morning, under the direction of Sgt. Clemmens of the 3d Infantry, and it is expected that many Georgetown men will avail themselves of the station "at home." In all probability a station will be opened on 9th street below F street, to be in the line of the thousands who pass up and down this busy thoroughfare every day.

sign to the officers in charge of the work, who say it is a fine sign of what will happen if a call should ever come for volunteers, pointing to enlistments by the hundreds from the District if a state of war should be declared in earnest.

Needs of 3d Infantry.
The 3d Infantry is in urgent need of the following: Seven cooks, two horse-drawers, six mounted orderlies, seven drivers, one saddler, one regimental commissary sergeant, and four men for the band, as follows: One E flat clarinet, one B flat clarinet, one piccolo and one tenor saxophone.

The infantry also wants fifteen machinists or mechanics for the machine gun company.

If there are any men in Washington who can qualify for any of the above positions they will be especially welcomed by the officers in the recruiting stations, as they are making strenuous efforts to meet these special needs of the 3d Infantry.

Cooks especially are being welcomed with open arms at the Pennsylvania avenue station. Cooks are hard to get in the army, even as they are in private life, and the infantry is having quite a hard time to get men who know how to bustle up good "chuck" for the boys in camp.

Can Cook, But Is Slightly Deaf.
One man volunteered this morning and was greeted by Col. Sayer and his assistants gladly, but upon examination proved to be somewhat deaf and had to be rejected. When the man was asked if he could cook, he replied: "I'm a crackjack cook."

This sounded so good to the officers that they had visions of savory bean soup, but since the man under examination seemed unable to hear well enough, he had to be rejected. He went away resigned to his fate, declaring that he had been rejected in 1898 because he was too old, when he wanted to serve in the ranks, and now that he wanted to serve as a cook his ears had gone back on him, and he guessed his chance to be a hero had gone by forever.

Supplies Recruiting Stations.

Providing coolers and ice for the various recruiting stations of the National Guard of the District of Columbia is the work taken up today by members of the Lineal Society of the Spanish War, under the direction of Mrs. Allyn K. Capron, supreme chief, ruler of the organization.

Mrs. Capron was informed yesterday that the various recruiting stations did not have ice water, and at once she took up the effort of securing it, with the result that the first station at 1225 Pennsylvania avenue was equipped before noon today.

"We must show these men who are making up our army," said Mrs. Capron today, "the deepest consideration, and our society wishes to look out for a part that we see neglected."

Later Mrs. Capron visited the station at 12th and U streets, and plans that it shall be equipped with ice water before this evening. The station in prospect on 9th street is also to be similarly equipped.

E. J. Norton of Congress Heights this morning volunteered the use of his automobile to carry recruits from the Pennsylvania avenue station to the camp. He and Harry Gladman were practically the only men volunteering for this important work today. Mr. Gladman has been "on the job" from the first.

MORE PHYSICIANS NEEDED.

Additional Medical Men to Examine Refugees From Mexico Sought.
Additional medical men to examine refugees from Mexico and to care for Mexican prisoners in event of hostilities are being sought by the United States public health service. Examinations for physicians and surgeons will be held in the principal cities of the country probably early in July, it is announced.

Typus fever, smallpox and yellow fever are to be guarded against particularly, and it is feared these diseases may be carried either by refugees who will be landed at American ports or by Mexicans who may be brought across the border.

NATIONAL GUARD CAMP NOTES

Recruits came in fast for the headquarters company yesterday. More than thirty filed their applications at the regimental headquarters. The company was organized last night and recruits are still coming. This recently was one of the smallest companies in the entire regiment, but it seems to be the most popular one for enlistments.

Commissioner Oliver P. Newman made an inspection of the camp yesterday, being welcomed and escorted about by Brig. Gen. William E. Harvey. The Commissioner said he was proud of the type of men he saw in the National Guard, representative of the citizenship of the country.

Rookies were engaged in getting equipment from the quartermaster's supply tent all day. For more than six hours the clerks were busy giving out uniforms, blankets, ponchos and other necessities. They were engaged in checking out cartloads of property received from the general storehouse of the National Guard in Washington.

First Sgt. Henry P. O'Malley of Company G has served twelve years in the National Guard. He is the good friend of all the troops, and is popular with the entire company and is himself enthusiastic for the service.

There were three band concerts in the camp yesterday. The first was at 6:30 in front of Col. Glendie Young's headquarters tent and the last at 8 o'clock. The last two were listened to by hundreds of guests. At the final concert there were more than 200 persons in the Y. M. C. A. tent and several hundred outside.

Col. and Mrs. C. Fred Cook were guests at the camp yesterday afternoon, in company with Col. R. D. Simms, the chief recruiting officer. Col. Cook is retired, was adjutant of the guard. Col. Simms was commended on all sides for the zeal with which he is carrying out his assignment to recruit the District guard to war strength.

Regimental Color Sergeant C. W. Moore has two sons in A Company. The sergeant has been recalled to the camp from detail to the District armory. He shipped out to the camp 31 wagons, 3 wagonloads of ammunition and 4 truckloads of equipment.

All members of Company G had leave last night. The first was on guard duty all the day and night before. At guard mount Company G made a fine showing and was commended in every way in which the rookies have been whipped into shape by the ex-regimentals who are enrolled.

The Y. M. C. A. tent is letter-writing headquarters. There is about ten dollars' worth of postage paid each day in this tent and more than 2,500 sheets of writing paper have been utilized.

A. L. Smith, the Y. M. C. A. secretary, is going to the border with the national guard.

"Mutt," the tallest man in Company G, is grieving over the fact that "Jeff" is in the guardhouse. They are both planning for interesting times when they meet the woman who was strict in his injunction that his diminutive friend's name should be "deleted."

The new pay station booth telephone in the Y. M. C. A. tent is such a popular place that in twenty-four hours the telephone slot became clogged up six times with nickels.

Walter C. Rathbone of Company L was host at the first banquet in camp last night. As he is detailed as a brigade headquarters clerk, his spread was honored by the presence of several brigade officers.

"Gen. Villa," the little mongrel cur, has been transferred from G Company to H Company as a mascot. "Gen. Villa" couldn't get along with the company who "Gen. Carranza," so he was given his passports and safe escort.

A delegation of Y. M. C. A. officials inspected the Y. M. C. A. tent and the camp in general yesterday. In the delegation were those who know of the young men in camp—W. H. Morris of the International Committee and Secretary Arthur of Baltimore. They were getting pointers for similar work in the Maryland camp in Laurel.

First Lieut. C. Earl Smithson of the 3d Infantry voiced the sentiment of the navy yard men in camp. The announcement made in last night's papers that these men had been called back to work caused much comment. Lieut. Smithson said: "There isn't any chance. I'm here and I am going right through with the outfit. I don't believe any of the men will withdraw from the regiment to go back to work. This sentiment was expressed generally among the men."

Capt. Edwin D. Fullam, adjutant of the 3d Infantry Regiment, was in District court today answering a habeas corpus summons in the first case, to test the right of the War Department to enlist into the service boys under twenty-one years of age without the consent of their parents.

Capt. Fullam was served with a habeas corpus warrant the day the regiment left for camp, calling for the delivery of John B. Egan, a Brooklyn man is nineteen years old. He wants to stay with the regiment, but his family is strenuously opposed. The case is before Justice Ashley M. Gould.

William L. Tidings, second lieutenant of the machine gun company, had many visitors last night. He is one of the most popular officers and a good captain. He was a first lieutenant and trained in.

Rev. William E. Callender of Christ Episcopal Church, Kensington, was in conference with Col. Young today relative to the vacancy caused by the inability of Chaplain George F. Dudley to go with the District guard when mustered in.

The machine gun company was the first to report itself ready for muster, having two men over the maximum depletion through failure to pass the physical examinations. The maximum for enlisted men is fifty-three. The company reported four officers and thirty-five men. The roster includes eight sergeants, six corporals, two cooks, eight first-class privates and thirty-one privates, making a total strength of fifty-nine men. The latest recruits to join the company are William G. Jones, William J. MacKenzie, Clarence P. Sowers and Alfred P. Leyburn.

Mrs. Russell MacLennan, who is known throughout the country as the organizer of the nation-wide society for the protection and honoring of the uniform of soldiers and sailors, was a camp visitor.

General court is to be held in camp today with Lieut. Col. Stephan as president to clear up any matters that should come before it in anticipation of early entrainment. These cases are for desertion, for failure to appear for service as required by contract of enlistment. The power of the court is strong, and if the offense justifies the penalty may be service in a military prison. The first cases to be heard were prepared last night and are of those arrested by a United States marshal or provost guard.

Reides Col. Stephan the officers of the court are Maj. A. P. Robbins, Quartermaster Corps; Maj. F. B. Wheaton, Inspector general; Maj. John C. Whitaker, Quartermaster Corps; Second Lieut. W. J. Bacon, 3d Infantry; and Maj. W. S. Hedges, Judge advocate general.

One hundred outfits and 150 rifles were distributed among the "rookies" last evening. These came from the National Guard Armory and were sent to the camp by Maj. A. P. Robbins, chief Quartermaster Corps, and Lieut. William A. Duvall, retired.

The 1st Separate Battalion was decorated last night with the "rookies" night. This included the sanitary officers. All of the companies are large and strong. Capt. Horace P. Hobbs, the regular army muster officer, was enthusiastic about this battalion. He declared they are "real soldiers," and that their officers are "fine men."

Frank E. Reynolds, senior color sergeant, has been made acting supply sergeant for the headquarters company of the 3d Infantry.

The new recruits are a splendid type of men, of fine physique and mentality, it is said. Some of them are professors, doctors, and all of them have either a trade or profession.

Rev. A. H. Zimmerman, as agent of the Washington Bible Society, has been visiting the camp. He is distributing Bibles, Psalms and Testaments in a quiet way. Dr. Zimmerman was a famous athlete in his college days and was a member of the Y. M. C. A. of the University of Pennsylvania. He is pastor of Every-body's Church at El Nido, Va., and holds services under the stars at the swimming hole—anywhere that people choose to congregate. Twenty-three years ago he was trade secretary for the Y. M. C. A., and has been a pastor for thirty years.

Private of the First Class John W. Hart, Hospital Corps, has been appointed sergeant, first class, Hospital Corps. Private Frank A. Carpenter, Hospital Corps, sanitary detachment, Field Artillery, has been promoted to sergeant.

All the officers are commenting on the fact that this is the most serious camp yet had. The men are paying attention to details of their service. They are exact in saluting officers. They keep their uniforms in trim, with pocket flaps buttoned down. The work of disciplining is being done quietly and effectively.

Each company of infantry or other tactical unit now has its kitchen protected. Wooden framework has been provided, over which there is a canvas roof. The sides are screened and a swinging door is on each end.

It will take four or five days to reach Bixbee, Ariz., the destination of the District Guard on the border. For military reasons the exact routing cannot be given out.

Two carloads of equipment for the District troops arrived at Rosslyn from the Philadelphia depot yesterday and are being unloaded today.

A real wedding feast was spread by the 3d Infantry Band last night in honor of the marriage of Peter Blaauwboer, clarinetist, and Miss Frances Barretta. Both formerly lived in Albany, N. Y. The bride has been living in Washington for the last two years.

Just as soon as Musician Blaauwboer heard that the troops were expected to depart he got leave and when he returned to camp within three hours was a happy married man. The first intimation his bandmates had was when he commenced to throw showers of rice from his clothing. He was unable to continue with the drill on account of the fact that his shoes were filled with rice.

Tent 5 in musicians' row was a jubilant place with plenty of wedding cake and "fixings." Musician Blaauwboer is a Spanish War Veteran and has been five years in the guard.

Company C got two of its former members back yesterday—John Fleming, who came from Baltimore and reported for duty, and A. P. Moyer, who came from Columbus, Ohio. The latter said that in Cleveland the militia are drilling without any uniforms, guns or other equipment. He told his company mates that he had learned to be as well equipped as they are. Recruits who joined Company C yesterday are Maurice Schubert, who has been a former soldier; John Goldblatt, Ed P. Sneed and A. S. Carter. Company C has had to put up a new tent to hold these recruits.

"Tod" Thomas, mess sergeant, is the best of Company C. He serves the best food in camp, it is declared. As mess sergeant at Washington barracks he instructed all the cooks who went to Cuba. The fact that the regimental non-commissioned officers eat with C Company is rated as its best recommendation.

Sergeant E. R. King has been made quartermaster sergeant in Company C. Gen. W. E. Harvey established a precedent last night. He accepted an invitation to meet with the Signal Corps, the first fact of unit mustered in. He ate from the mess kit like any private and enjoyed his roast beef dinner thoroughly. For desert the corps had pound cake and ice cream.

The men of the 1st Separate Battalion are in good spirits and eager to get started. This outfit presented for muster the following officers: Maj. James E. Walker, First Lieut. J. E. Smith, Second Lieut. W. A. Hamilton, Quartermaster, Capt. Albert E. Diddie, surgeon. Non-commissioned officers: Sgt. Maj. E. B. Smith and Supply Sgt. F. J. Ennis. Each company presented two officers and at least 110 men; one company had 137 men.

The 1st Separate Battalion is receiving shoes today. It is now thought that this organization will start with the khaki uniforms they have ordered and will not wait for olive drab uniforms.

There are seven men in the regimental band who are affected by the recall-to-work order for navy yard employees. This would break the band up pretty well.

PLENTY OF ARMY SUPPLIES.

Quartermaster's Department Able to Meet All Demands.

War Department officials believe they have perfected arrangements by which ample supplies of food, equipment and clothing will be provided for all troops called into the federal service, no matter how great the numbers may be. Secretary Baker today made public the following statement from the quartermaster general:

"The Quartermaster Corps has, up to the present time, met all the calls made upon it for supplies in the way of clothing and equipment, and with the arrangement which we now have for purchasing, in order to replenish stock, it is not believed there will be any difficulty, no matter how many troops are called."

As far as food supplies are concerned, there have been abundant in quantity and of excellent quality, and arrangements are such that the same will continue when the large increase of troops in Texas is made, the matter being entirely handled by the department commander, through the department quartermaster.

The only difficulty so far experienced has been in obtaining a sufficient number of motor trucks of a certain type preferred by army officials for border use. Plenty of trucks of proper size and power, but of different design, are immediately available.
